Well once I get my license next week I'm gonna go see what this little water thing is in backroads of my town. I don't know what it is so I'm gonna go sneak in at night to go find out.

What would be a good day time op to do in a suburban type community. There are a few schools I am looking into but I think they might be better for night time

Im slightly experianced at night op's however this is my first post in these pages so I guess I'll take it to say hi.

I've read bunches of the original night op's thread so i know quite a bit of whats goin on. Anyway. I hope I can bring back more life to this theread than was in IV..

I have a question however. What colours of cammo would be the best in a low light situation. I'd think some black and grays?

And although I never night opped with them seeing as they weren't mine I've used Gen 4 night goggles and trust me their shweeeeet!!!

operation sniff sister's panties:

a sucess!

Difficulty factor: Extreme

I waited until my sister went to her friends today around 2pm. I wheelchaired (yes im crippled) into her bedroom wearing full tactical on and went to her laundry basket and found the panties, I rested them on my lap and rolled to her cabinet where she keeps her make up and perfumes, I found a water spray bottle I knew would be there and used it to moisten the shit stains to get a better smell.

I planned on doing this in my bedroom but I decided to pull out my chubby and pound and jack on it while smelling my sister's cooch scent.

thats about it, i don't know what my next opp will be because i'm pretty limited with my legs. any suggestions?

You suck. Even if you are joking, you suck. Let's keep it serious people, this is the Night Ops thread, not the OMG LIEK 100HT POST!!!111!!!11111

What the fuck guys, the night ops threads are just getting dumber and dumber with all these people thinking that some minor shit is an op, or posting off-topic shit like I'm doing right now.

So this isn't completely off-topic, I'll post about an op I'm doing this weekend.

(I don't actually plan on doing this, nor does my "trainee". This is all hypothetical, I speak only lies, except for this statement.)

I'm going to test a newbie oppers skill and endurance. We're leaving his house at 12 midnight, and running about 1/2 mile through the woods. After reaching a very busy road(even at midnight) we'll have to cross without arising suspicion, and get to a nearby parking lot. We'll car shop a little there, then run around the woods, about 1/4 mile, to the side of a hospital. I'm going to tell the newbie to pick the outside lock, while I hide in the trees, in order to see how well he could perform by himself, and to see how he handles pressure(we're not quite sure about security measures) When he picks the lock, he'll swing the door fully open to prove to me he's done it, then run back to the woods. From there, it's about 1 mile to my house, where I'll simply tell him to enter by any means possible, but don't cause any permanent/serious damage. If he wakes my parents up, I'll just tell them it was me, because I got locked out, so I was prying open the window or something. After he gets inside, he's to leave through th eback door, silently, where I'll be waiting for him. There, I'll give him his tattoo to show he's in [the group]. If anything goes wrong, I'll just knock him out and put him on his porch, possibly with a letter that says "No, just no."

(once again, I speak only lies when I talk about things like these, whether they be serious or minor, I always lie.)

Sir.Shadow, I'd stick to either a grey or a navy blue. Black is too dark and contrasts, therefore sticking out like a sore thumb.

I, personally am going on an exploration op tonight. Going to trek through the woods and across the golf course to the city-like area of my region. There's numerous manholes belonging to the phone company and I figure they might leave interesting manuals and/or hardware down there to which I can expand my knowledge. Just something to get me back into the swing since Summer is setting in.

Billy, you're a twisted person.

GK, Elite. It's like a "Grinder." You know, to see how far they can go and what they're capable of. You should also add some harder activities like locating and removing sentries. I did that the one year with a few friends, mind you it took a while to learn how to knock them out with one swift hit. Heh..

My friend has had another night op idea. He is so smart. A little ways from his house is a large group of little league baseball fields. There are two large concession stands and what he suspects to be two very well stocked sheds. Both of which are, if he strikes at the right time of the year, full of nice little goodies. Not necessarily money but enough things to make the effort and risk worth it. The sheds will have at the most a master lock on it and he doubts that the concession stands will have anything besides a lock. No one has ever made a move on this place so it is not expected. My friend cannot believe that he did not have the idea sooner. He says A very good recon mission is in order for this one. Ill keep everyone up dated on my friends progress.

The one question that my friend has is if he should take anyone with him. After this strike he suspects that the security will go way up so he will only want to do this once but he doesn't really know anyone who does this sort of thing. Should he try to find someone and train them? or should he go about this alone? He has some time to prepare and think this through before he needs to do it.

(every word above is fictional and not true. It does it mean or try to imply that any thing in this nature will ever occur in the future. I am just trying to improve my writing skills.)

tootles,

Pshycho Fraud
